

A residence for foreign translators in Rome

by Simona Cives

The Casa delle Traduzioni is part of the RECIT network and is a specialized research center and library dedicated to translation. It includes a highly specialized library, accommodation for selected foreign translators, and offers a wide range of cultural activities, in particular translation workshops. It cooperates with many Italian and international institutions. Casa delle Traduzioni has an important role to play in the field of literary translation.