

by Susanna Basso

The introduction of a translation workshop in school programmes is becoming increasingly common. After the project involving the students of the Liceo Galilei in Ostiglia, which was discussed in tradurre's 7th issue by professors Carla Barbi and Maria Chiara Romani, this article presents the more challenging experience carried out by Giulia Bertagnolio and Roberta Strocchio's students, from the Liceo Mazzarello in Turin.