

by Maria Giulia Castagnone

The author explains the mechanisms of acquiring the translation and publishing rights of foreign books, focussing on auctions and the best offer system, and includes several specific episodes encountered during her long experience at the head of certain prominent Italian publishing houses.