TRANSLATING CONTEMPORARY PERSIAN PROSE

by Anna Vanzan

The article tackles some of the main issues concerning the translation of Persian women writers, at the intersection between gender, language and translation, and suggests a few methodological and practical solutions towards a new politics of translation.